Large East Coast fence contractor Atlas Outdoor has praised CDH Custom Roll Form's security palisade fencing system as a standout solution for a three-rail arched picket system it has installed in several high-security government and transportation facilities.

Citing exceptional quality, ease of installation and a reliable supply chain, Atlas Outdoor said the CDH high-security palisade fencing line checks every box. "It's a product any skilled fence crew can install with confidence," the company shared. "It delivers outstanding quality, dependable availability and high revenue per man-hour."

Distributed through Master Halco, the CDH system is designed for high-security environments where strength and efficiency are paramount. Atlas Outdoor strongly recommends it to contractors seeking a smart, profitable solution that meets today's rigorous security demands.
